1st October 2013

Dear Parents,

I have noticed in the mornings that a large proportion of the children are not getting into their classrooms to begin learning until almost 8.55am. This concerns me as over the week these children could potentially lose up to 50 minutes of learning time each week. Taken over a complete school year this could result in around 31 ½ hours being lost.

In order to address this problem we will begin ringing the bell in the mornings at 8.40am in order for the vast majority of the children to be in school and ready to commence the day at 8.45am which is school's official start time. The registers will still close at 9am and any child arriving after that will be marked late as we do now.

I hope you will support this move in light of the time that your child could potentially lose over the course of the year.

This new procedure for the morning will begin on Monday 7th October 2013.

Many thanks

Miss Lisa Meacher
